

ARMY SONGS.

CLEANSING FOR ME.

Tune.—Cleansing for me, 219.
Lord, through the Blood of the Lamb that was slain,
Cleansing for me,
From all the guilt of my sins now
I claim
Cleansing from Thee, Sinful and black though the past
may have been,
Many the crushing defeats I have known,
Yet on Thy promise, O Lord, now I lean,
Cleansing for me.

From all the sins over which I have wept,
Far, far away by the blood current sweet,
Jesus, Thy promise I dare to believe,
And as I come Thou wilt surely receive,
That over sin I may never more grieve.

From all the care of what men think
or say,
From ever fearing to speak, sing, or pray,
Lord, in Thy love and Thy power
make me strong,
(That all may know that to Thee I belong.)
When I am tempted let this be my song—

ONLY THEE.

(Tune.—Only Thee, 151; Even me,
No. 142.)
Only Thee, my soul's Redeemer!
Whom have I in Heaven beside?
Who on earth, with love so tender,
All my wandering steps will guide?

Chorus.

Only Thee, only Thee!
Doving Saviour, only Thee!
Only Thee! No joy I covet,
But the joy to call Thee mine—
Joy that gives the best assurance
Thou hast owned and sealed me Thine.

Only Thee! I ask no other.
Thou art more than all to me;
Life or health or creature comfort—
I would give them all for Thee.

Only Thee, Whose Blood has cleansed me,
Would my raptured vision see,
While my faith is reaching upward,
Ever upward, Lord, to Thee.

I NEED THEE EVERY HOUR.

I need Thee every hour, most gra-tious Lord,
No tender voice like Thine can peace afford.

Chorus.

I need Thee, oh, I need Thee;
Every hour I need Thee;
Oh, bless me now, my Saviour;
I come to Thee.

I need Thee every hour, stay Thou near by!
Temptations lose their power when Thou art nigh.

I need Thee every hour in joy or pain;
Come quickly and abide, or life is vain.

I need Thee every hour; teach me Thy will,
And Thy rich promises in me fulfill.

OH, TURN YE!

Tune.—My Jesus, I love Thee, 185.
Oh, turn ye: 199.
Oh, turn ye, oh, turn ye, for with me is the Lord.

The Chief Secretary

(COLONEL GASKIN, MRS. GASKIN, AND THE DIVISIONAL COMMANDERS WILL ACCOMPANY.)

When God in great mercy is drawing so nigh?
Now Jesus invites you, the Spirit says, "Come!"
And angels are waiting to welcome you home.

How vain the delusion that while you delay
Your heart may grow better by staying away!

Come wretched, come starving, come just as you be,
While streams of Salvation are flowing so free.

Why will you be starving and feeding on air?
There's mercy in Jesus, enough and to spare.

If still you are doubting, make trial
and see,
And prove that His mercy is boundless and free.

Come, give us your hand, and the Saviour your heart,
And, trusting in Jesus, we never shall part.

Oh, how can we leave you? Why will you not come?
We'll journey together, and soon be at home.

CORPS CADETS SUNDAY.

The Chief Secretary has decided that Sunday, November 29th, shall be set apart as Corps Cadet Sunday, when it is hoped to bring the number of Corps Cadets for the Canadian Territory up to five hundred. We have now three hundred and seventy-six who are connected with the new system.
Corps Officers and Young People's Leads are urged to give serious consideration to this exceptional opportunity to extend the Young People's War.

PRACTICAL RELIGION.

How a Salvationist Helped Tired Mothers.

At Graham, near Melbourne (Australia), recently, there seemed to be a regular epidemic of winter illnesses amongst the children of the place. Hearing how worn out with nursing, and how much in need of assistance, some of the mothers were, a kindly Home Leaguer went around and called at their homes, gathered up all the clothes that needed washing, and later on returned them freshly laundered.—

BRACEBRIDGE ONT.).

We have welcomed our new leader, Captain Bessie Walters. A social gathering was held, and was an enjoyable time. The Captain spoke from the well-known words,
"The Lord is my strength and my deliverer."

What would it mean if The General had to close the Institutions for men and who are broken in the battle of life, and children who are helpless? This:—

There is yet another reason. This is likely to be a very hard winter in Canada, and people who have not enough of the patriotic funds, will be suffering dire distress. The Salvation Army has innumerable claims upon it, and the $25,000 will accomplish an immense amount of good amongst the poor. We urge you, then, in the name of Christ, to come to the aid of the poor and give to this Fund. (See Page 6.)

Salvationist Bandmaster Honoured.

THE following reference to the distinction that has been conferred on a British Bandmaster will be read with interest.

We also think the picture of the "Citadel" Band will be of interest.

While there are thousands of Salvationists in the rank and file of the British Army, to Bandmaster Devoto, of Tottenham, L., belongs the honour, so far as we know, of being the first Salvationist in this country to receive a commission in His Majesty's Army years the British "War Cry".

The Bandmaster was for seven years private clerk to Sir John French, and some weeks ago he was asked by the War Office if he would take the position which he now holds—the superintendence of the provision of clothing, feeding, and equipment at one of the camps. He consented, and was given an appointment as lieutenant and quartermaster in one of the battalions of the Royal Irish Rifles, and is stationed at Candelbough, just below Belfast.

Seen by a "Cry" representative for a few moments on Sunday night the Bandmaster, who was home for the weekend, and had just finished a heavy day with his Band at Tottenham Citadel, said, "I find The Salvation Army is greatly respected wherever I go. Some days since the colonel of the regiment was choosing some one to go home for the week-end who, by their appearance and manner, would do credit to the King's uniform, and he likely to enlist recruiting in the town. On being informed that there was a Salvationist in one of the companies, he immediately said, "That Salvation Army man is the one to send; he's sure to be a credit to the uniform."

Lieutenant Devoto, whom we hasten to congratulate on his appointment, has been an duty now a month, and although he naturally feels the severance from the band, he is assured in that he finds opportunity for spiritual work among the men of his regiment.

Montreal Metropolitan was visited by the Montreal IV. Band recently. An interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music was rendered, which the "barbers" fully appreciated. During the same week our Bandmaster, accompanied by half a dozen Bandmen, gave a Musical Programme at the French Corps (Montreal III.).

A musical programme was also given at the Old Folks' Home, at Longue Point, on Thursday, Nov. 11th. It was our second visit to the Home, and the audience seemed very pleased to welcome us again. Both vocal and instrumental items were given, and a cornet solo by Master John Robbs was much applauded.—B. M.

Because of the pressing need of a move for the Hall, the Cobourg Bandmen comrades arranged a musical meeting, which was held on Thursday, Nov. 5th. No less than one hundred and forty persons were present, more than have ever attended meetings here, and the sum of twenty-one dollars and eighty cents was realized. Cake and coffee were served by the Soldiers. The new stove is installed.—B. M.

Ingersoll (Ont.) was the Mecca of the London I. Band on Saturday, Nov. 7th. They were accompanied by Staff-Captain White, and received a rousing reception from the general inhabitants. A large crowd was present to greet the band on Saturday evening, and the Citadel was ### Helping the Belgians.

The sad condition of the people of Belgium has deeply touched the General's heart, and he has sent Commissioner Ulysse Cosandey to undertake special relief work on their behalf. The Commissioner, it will be remembered, was sent to Sicily on a similar mission at the time of the great volcanic eruption and earthquake. The excellent service he did on that occasion came to the notice of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, who sent the Commissioner a special decoration as a token of his appreciation.

The work before the Commissioner in Belgium is likely to be going to the front with the Second Contingent. Among them were four Salvationists, namely: Bandsman Thomas, E. H., H. H., and Brother G. Gander. The crowd was so large that The Salvation Army Citadel could not hold them, and the new Kilbourn Theatre had to be used. About thirteen hundred people were present.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor McQuibber, who was supported by W. S. Milledore, Esq., M. P.; C. S. Cameron, Esq., M. P.; several of the Town Council, and a number of clergy. Included in those present were the 3rd Regiment, its officers and band, The Salvation Army Band and Singsters, the town band, officers of the Danubians of the Empire and Patriotic League, and the St. John's Ambulance Brigade.

Each man going to the front was presented with ten dollars by the town and a parcel of comforts from the Patriotic League. A very pleasing scene was witnessed at 3:30 next morning, just before the contingent departed, when the Salvationists who were going joined in a prayer meeting with The Army Band.

"Dad" Miles.

Brother—or, as he is affectionately called, "Father"—Miles is a Soldier in the town of Barrie, Ont. He is not ashamed to confess to eighty-one years passed in the journey of life. Thirty years ago, as he was going along a country road in a northern town, he was met by the Holy Spirit's power, and gave himself to God. He has been a devoted, earnest Army Soldier ever since.

One of his sons is a Staff Officer in the United States, and several of his grandchildren are following in the footsteps of their Salvationist grandfather. Not only is Father Miles a member of the Praying League and a faithful reader of this column, deriving much benefit and encouragement from it, but he also sells "The War Cry".

Week his pleasant face is seen upon the streets of his home town, and eighty-five "Cries" disposed of is his usual number.

In a few earnest words he gives his personal experience. He says: "The influence which led to my conversion and joining The Salvation Army was my son's conversion, and the influence of his life on me. The bread that giveth strength I want to give;
The water pure that bids the thirsty live;
I want to help the fasting day by day;
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.
I want to give the oil of joy for tears,
The faith to conquer cruel doubts and fears.
Beauty for ashes may I give away;
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.
I want to give good measure running o'er,
And into angry hearts I want to pour.

The answer soft that turneth wrath away;
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.
I want to give to others hope and faith;
I want to do all that the Master saith;
I want to live a right from day to day;
I'm sure I shall not pass again this way.

When our Lord was speaking, on one occasion, confidently with His followers, He asked two questions. The second of which was, "But whom say ye that I am?" And to Peter's brave, outspoken answer, answered, "Upon this rock I will build My Church." No statement, perhaps, has been more controverted throughout the ages. ### TORONTO DIV. OFFICERS.

Meet in Council Led by Lieut. Colonel Chandler.

A very blessed and helpful day's Council was conducted by the Officers of the Toronto Division at Tecumseh Street Hall on Wednesday. A number of Officers from the outside places were privileged to be present. The Colonel spoke in the morning upon "The Law of the Spirit of Life," and from the eighth of Romans dwelt upon the mission of the Holy Spirit, and the work He was sent into the world to accomplish. His willingness to co-operate with us as Officers in the great work that was before us.

In the afternoon each officer, by their testimony, told of the blessings received; and realized that the great need was the proclaiming of the old truths and working in the spirit of true self-sacrifice. Lieutenant McCaughey, who has done several months of successful work at Norland Circle Corps, and who is going as spiritual advisor to the Soldiers Prison Farm, and also to assist at the Corps, spoke to us of the victories God had given him. And Captain Martin, of Aurora, spoke of the blessings received while visiting the soldiers of the military camp at his Corps. Mrs. Chandler and Staff-Captain Bloss spoke during the day. Ensign and Mrs. Baskie, with the comrades of No. 1, received the benediction of the company in the splendid way they ministered to the needs of the inner man.

At night a general attack was made upon the enemy. Reinforcements were brought to the front by the Officers who were instrumental in raising and after a rousing open-air, led on by Adjutant Cameron, we proceeded inside to a real, old-fashioned meeting. The act of the Old Guard, "My Father," of Downmanville frame, was there to shout "Hallelujah!" Quick-firing testimonies were given by the visiting Officers, and Adjutant MacDonald read from God's Word, making a very interesting meeting indeed. After words of invitation to the sinner by the Colonel, we closed a very happy day's meetings.—L. B.

EIGHTEEN SEEK PARDON.

Splendid Finish to Day of Salvation Warfare Conducted by Brigadiers Cameron and Jordan, Assisted by the Women Cadets.

On Sunday, Nov. 15th, Brigadier Cameron and a number of Women Cadets, visited Dovercourt (Toronto), and gave us a splendid day of Salvation. At the morning meeting the Brigadier gave a splendid address on the service of Jesus Christ. The afternoon meeting was of an interesting character, being under the title of "The Miraculous Day." Each Cadet took a certain thing out of the basket, carried a passage of Scripture, and gave a short address. The first, representing Christ as the "Rose of Sharon" and "Lily of the Valley." Seed, salt, and soap, also other articles, were given. On account of the bad weather, a prayer meeting was held instead of an open-air.

Brigadier Jordan conducted the night meeting and gave a stirring address. The Band and Songsters rendered good service, and the Cadets assisted by their singing. After real, old-fashioned prayer, eighteen souls sought pardon. Brigadier Cameron told us the Cadets had been up at 5:30 a.m. to pray for the meetings, at the point. Truly their prayers were answered.

CHEERING NEWS.

From the Corps in the London Division—Brigadier Bettridge is Hurrying.

Brigadier Bettridge has planned a mighty effort for the London Division whereby he hopes to visit every Corps regularly; some every week, others every two weeks, and some every month. So far, the results have been away beyond our highest expectations.

At Stratford, last Tuesday night, a Young People's meeting, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m., was well attended, and then a Soldier meeting followed, with splendid evidences of great religious interest. A report from Adjutant Meeks for the week-end following these services speaks of a glorious awakening.

Woodstock came in for a similar visit on Wednesday night, and we are pleased to say that Ensign Mercer reports a splendid Sunday, with several souls.

The same news comes from London I., where the Brigadier is doing weekly Thursday night services, dealing specially with the "Writings of Paul to the Romans." These services have already brought forth splendid results. On Friday night at St. Thomas, a Young People's meeting, from 7 to 8 o'clock, and a Senior meeting following, proved to be a splendid help to the special meetings that Adjutant W. Squarebriggs has now got going in full force.

Undoubtedly a real, holy desire is springing up among our people throughout the Division, and we are looking forward to, and hoping for, a mighty soul-saving time this winter. In running over the reports that come in from the various centres, it is truly refreshing to read not only a number being saved, but of the heart-interest made manifest in soul-saving by our comrade Officers.

In the following you will see how general is the result: London I.—Reports six souls for the week-end. Owen Sound.—Reports for the last two weeks nine for Salvation, Essex.—The extreme south of the Division cheers our hearts with the good news of five souls for Sunday, Stratford.—Has had a wonderful outpouring of God's Spirit, and reports eighteen souls who have sought Salvation last week.—W. G. W.

A YACHT RIDE.

Down the Fraser River to Get to Meeting-Place.

Our League of Mercy at New Westminster is a great help and blessing to our Corps, and is getting along splendidly under the leadership of Sergeant-Major Mrs. R. Dunlop. We had our monthly Spiritual meeting on Oct. 27th, at the home of one of our members, who has moved on to a ranch on Annapolis Island, about a half-hour's yacht ride down the Fraser River. We had a song service part of the way down, and coming back, and enjoyed ourselves very much. Each member gave twenty-five cents for the ride, which was given back to the League to help us out in our finances.

We held our Salvation meeting on the following Saturday night. God's Spirit was felt in our meetings. We can truly say that it was good for our souls to be there.—E. Cain.

PARADISE SOUND, NFLD.

We have smashed our Harvest Festival target. The Quarters also has been painted, and we are having some good meetings.—W. J. F.

Col. & Mrs. Gaskin

AT CHATHAM, ONT.

The Mayor's Tribute.

Chatham has been favoured by a visit from the Chief Secretaries, Colonel and Mrs. Gaskin, also Brigadier and Mrs. Bettridge. The Colonel not arriving till 9:30, the Brigadier conducted the Saturday night's meeting, which was one of interest and blessing.

On Sunday morning, although the sleet and snow was falling, quite thickly, a number of comrades turned up. The Colonel's address at 11 a.m. was on the line of a good man, strongly enforcing the fact that while gifts of education and similar things were good, yet the gift of a good name handed down from parents to children, outweighed them all.

In the afternoon the Colonel's address was on "Memories." His Worship the Mayor presided, and some of the city Aldermen were also present. The Mayor, in his address, said: "This handsome edifice is a monument to the men and women who have laboured so faithfully in the work that will greater monuments are the lives of men and women who have been redeemed from lives of sin and vice through the cheers labour of the workers in the Salvation Army. The city has benefited, and while there may not have been any demonstrative appreciation on the part of the general public, I feel that Chathamians do appreciate the good work you are doing."

At night the Citadel was packed, chairs having to be brought in to fill up all available space. The Colonel spoke on the "Fair Country," and by the spirit which prevailed in the meeting, all those that were present desired to go there. A man found God at the home of Treasurer Craft on Thursday morning—J. Mercer, that at White River, when he arrived in a sailing boat, the natives came out in canoes to meet him and by diverse means, mainly by pointing to their mouths, made him understand that they were badly in need of food.

A white whale and some porpoises were caught later, which added over the two weeks until the arrival of the Hudson's Bay packet.

BIG ORDERS FOR BOOTS.

THE boot manufacturers in the vicinity of Montreal are receiving some big orders from Europe. Half a million pairs of military boots have been ordered already, and it is expected that a further contract for 200,000 pairs will shortly be signed. That should give plenty of men busy this winter.

WAR'S EFFECTS ON NEWS-PAPERS.

SINCE the London "Times" because a penny paper, its circulation has greatly increased, but the result from a financial point of view seems to have been for the worse. The profits of the "Times" for the year which ended on June 30th, during three months of which the reduced price had been in force, were only $80,000, compared with $85,000 in the previous year.

The war must be costing the "Times" and all the other London papers enormous sums. The next annual statement of most big papers in both Europe and America will show heavy losses instead of profits. A general increase of subscription rates may become inevitable if hostilities are prolonged.

WHAT HE MIGHT HAVE

NOTE TO THE READER

Jack Bryce, subject of the story, had as ancestors Presbyterian ministers dating back to the days of Claverhouse. He left his native glen for the Edinburgh University, where his father's hopes for his son to succeed him in the ministry were blasted by evil companions, who led the boy astray, and to his expulsion from college. The news hastened his mother's death, and a painful scene ensued between father and son. Jack met with a Highland regiment, and enlisted. In course of time he became the regimental sergeant-major. When serving in Malta he received news that his father was dying. He was granted leave of absence, and hastened home to his father's bedside. On the outbreak of war in South Africa he was recalled, and proceeded with his regiment, where he was himself shot through both legs, the disaster at Magersfontein, after carrying out of action his wounded officer, Lord Lytton. While in hospital he fell in love with a Scottish nurse, into the face he loved so well and whispered, "Nell, dear, you will think of me out yonder?" "Yes, Jack, you know I shall never forget you, no matter where you are!" came the answer he wanted to hear.

"Ah, well, we have been happy during these months," said Jack, "and I'm glad I had to come here. It has been worth all the pain and suffering to win you at the end of it." "I wonder if you will always think that," remarked Nellie, with a sigh. "Sometimes I have wondered if, after you leave here, you might not forget all about me."

"Nell, Nell, I cannot hear to hear you say that, for even if I did not love you, common gratitude for your goodness would still keep you in my memory."

"I forgive me, Jack, dear, for after his heart, that there had been no such black spot in his life.

On this night, as they were spending their last few moments together, the bitter memories seemed to come thick and fast upon him. "Nellie, dear," he said, with faltering voice, "I often wonder why you love me at all, because there are heaps of better men than I who would be glad to possess such a love as yours."

"Yes," came the girl's answer, "and supposing I had all their love, of what value would it be if I did not possess yours. I want you, Jack, and you alone."

Here we leave the lovers on this last night, amidst the shadows of the cypress trees, whilst the soft wind sighed amongst the leaves, and the silvery moon looked down upon them as they stood heart to heart in the silence of an African night.

"I forgive me, Jack, dear, for after

"Springing at Gifford, he clutched him by the throat."

CHAPTER XV.

"BACK TO THE REGIMENT."

THREE months had slipped quickly by with Sergeant-major Bryce whilst he was a patient in the hospital at Cape Town. But he had become fit and strong again and had received the order to rejoin his battalion at Bloemfontein.

During the last few months Jack Bryce had lived in an atmosphere of bliss, he was passionately in love, and Nellie's existence responded to that love with all her heart. They saw each other every day, and although they were within the walls of the hospital, so much work of love could pass between them, yet the mere fact of being continually in each other's presence, and of everything to them.

They often met outside, and on these happy occasions the footlights of a pure and true love were let loose. For then everything in the world seemed different, and now their eyes were looking out into the future with all the golden store of brightness which, as yet, only existed in their thoughts. Ah! those bright, happy, golden dreams; how different was to being really that future which now looked so rosy was to come upon them with the deepest pain and sorrow. They lived in the present, and it was enough for them that the sun was shining. But dark clouds were near.

Leaving for the Front.

Their days of bliss, however, were at an end for the moment, and Jack Bryce knew that there was sterner work before him at the front. The two lovers had arranged to meet for the last time before Jack proceeded once more to the scene of action.

They met to say good-bye in the same spot where they had spoken the first words of love, and then again in the silence of the night they repeated the vows of fidelity they had made on that occasion. Their hearts were sad, for Jack had before them what might prove to be a long absence from each other. The fortunes of war are varied, and perhaps they might never meet again. They had been very silent, so silent that each wondered when the other would speak. At length Jack Bryce bent down, and drawing Nellie close to him, he looked all, of course I know you will not forget; only it does seem hard to part so soon."

"You must not say that, little woman," said Jack, "because, after all, my duty lies at the front, and I am sure you would not care to have me shrink that."

Until Jack met Nellie Armatage he had never cared for any woman in his life. Now that the knowledge of love had come to him, it seemed to possess every fibre of his body.

There were times, when in the presence of this pure and beautiful woman, Jack felt the shame of other days. A man seldom carelessly realizes the full of the past when he is loved by a pure woman in the present, and the mere thought of Nellie Armatage had made him wish that he could take back those evil days.

Of course, he had told her of that past, and although she assured him that it did not alter in any way her love for him, yet he wished with all

The morning saw the departure of Jack Bryce from the hospital in Cape Town to rejoin his corps at Bloemfontein. He went with the best wishes of all who had come in touch with him, but in the silence of her own room Nellie Armatage wept bitterly with the pang of parting from the man she loved.

Whilst Jack Bryce had been a resident of the Cape Town Hospital, the Highland Brigade had passed through many trying experiences. Since the black night of Magersfontein when they lost their gallant leader, the brave Wainwright, the Highlanders had done their share of hard fighting. A new chief had been placed at their head, the famous "Blazing Mac," General Hector Macdonald. Under his leadership they were out on the stain of Claverhouse. At Paardeberg they had assisted in the capture of Cronje, and in several other engagements they had further maintained the high prestige which had ever belonged to the Highland Brigade.

Speedily mourned and hastened to his death, and he was buried in the other grave.

ARMY SONGS.

HEAVEN PREPARED FOR ME.
Tune—Elcombe, 30; Mighty to keep; Song Book, 635.
How happy every child of grace,
Who knows his sins forgiven!
This earth, he cries, is not my place,
I seek my place in Heaven!
A country far from mortal sight,
Yet, Oh, by faith, I see
The land of rest, the saints' delight,
The Heaven prepared for me.

A stranger in the world below,
I calmly sojourn here;
Nor can my happiness or woe
Provoke my hope or fear.
Its evils in a moment end,
Its joys as soon are past;
But, Oh, the bliss to which I tend Eternally shall last.

MY HOME IS IN HEAVEN.
Tune—My home is in Heaven, 253;
Song Book, 635.
I have a home that is fairer than day,
And my dear Saviour has shown me
the way;
Oh when I'm sad and temptations
arise,
I look to my home far away.

CHORUS.
My home is in Heaven, there is no
parting there,
All will be happy, glorious, bright,
and fair;
There'll be no sorrow, there will be no tears.
In that bright home far away.
Friends I shall see who have journeyed before,
And landed safe on that beautiful
shore;
I shall see Jesus, that will be my joy,
In that bright home far away.

Oh, who will journey to Heaven with me?
Jesus has died that we all may go free.
Come, then, to Him who has purchased for you
A crown in that home far away.

WILL YOU GO?
Tune—We're Travelling Home,
128; Behold the Lamb, 122.
We're travelling home to Heaven above.

Will you go?
To sing the Saviour's dying love,
Will you go?
Millions have reached that blissful
shore,
Their trials and their labours o'er,
And yet there's room for millions more.

Will you go?
We're going to see the bleeding
Lamb.
Will you go?
In rapturous songs to praise His name.

Will you go?
Our sun will then no more go down,
Our moon no more will be withdrawn.
Our days of mourning ever gone.
Will you go?

Oh, could I hear some sinner say,
"I will go!"
I'll start this moment, clear the way,
Let me go!
My old companions, fare you well,
I will not go with you to hell,
I mean with Jesus Christ to dwell;
Let me go!

For Sale—Splendid lantern and go along, in good condition, O.K. for an Office. What offer, no reasonable offer refused. Write J. Boleyn,
